CHARGES FILED AGAINST CO. OFFICER

SUPERVISORS HEAR FORMER MAYOR OF REDWOOD CITY IN HIS CLAIM AGAINST DALZIEL; ROAD CONTRACT AWARDED.

The meeting of the county supervisors held Monday at Redwood City was partly given over to a consideration of charges against Traffic Officer James B. Dalziel preferred by Mark Ryan, former mayor of Redwood City. Arrested recently by Dalziel, Ryan charged the officer with discrimination in that he failed to arrest the driver of a Rapid Transit Company bus which he (Ryan) was following. Ryan further charged that Dalziel frequented a "bootleg joint known as the Rainbow." Dalziel stated in his own behalf that he had often taken meals at the Rainbow, usually in company with his wife, and that he had never taken anything stronger to drink there than tea or coffee. The board took the matter under advisement.

Bids were received at this meeting for the rebuilding of the Santa Cruz road from Pescadero to Pigeon Point, and the contract awarded to W. W. Thompson, the figure being $39,149.88. Supervisor Hickey informed the board that he had taken up the matter of a wall between the highway and the car tracks from Colma to the southern boundary of the cemeteries with the State Highway Commission, and that of the estimated cost of $9000 he had agreed that the county of San Mateo would pay $2000. This matter was continued to March 19th. A communication from the State Highway Commission in regard to rights of way for the Skyline boulevard was referred to County Surveyor George A. Kneese, with the request that he get in touch with Engineer Skaggs of the commission.

In a communication H. A. Mason, on behalf of the directors of district highway board No. 1, asked that the county turn over to the board its proportion of the amount needed to pay for rights of way, fencing, etc., for the Skyline boulevard, as the money will be needed for deposit in a condemnation suit against the Kavanaugh property. The county's proportion is estimated at $3000. This subject the board continued to March 16th, but in the meantime, on motion of Supervisor Francis, the auditor was requested to set aside the sum of $2573 for deposit in the Kavanaugh case.

The matter of street improvements in Lomita Park was continued to March 16th, when a special meeting will be held upon the return of the members of the board from the annual supervisors' convention in Sacramento. A letter from Louise Schultz was received, favorable to the improvements, and a personal protest against the work was filed from Dorinda McManus. Mrs. Dorothy Cutler of Lomita Park personally presented to the board the protests of ninety-nine property owners, all of which were ordered filed.

A petition was received from John Sesnon and seventy-one other residents of San Carlos, asking for the formation of a fire district in that community and the appointment of three commissioners. John V. Clark was sworn as to the signatures on the petition, following which this matter was also continued to March 16th.

Several claims were approved and ordered paid, following which Supervisor Rosalie M. Brown of the second township informed the board that she had taken up with Mayor William H. Pearson the matter of the non-removal of the Burlingame gates from the state highway. Mayor Pearson, she said, had stated that the delay had been due to his illness, but that he expected to take the matter up at once and hoped for favorable action.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Kauffmann entertained a large party of friends at dinner Wednesday evening at their Grand avenue home. There were about fifteen present.

Concentration is the life of trade.

TRUSTEES HOLD QUIET SESSION

Applications for Soft Drink Permits
Go Over Until Next Monday; Routine Matters Disposed Of.

Monday evening's meeting of the city trustees was a quiet session. It lasted little more than an hour and was lacking in striking features.

A pile of applications for soft drink licenses that have been on hand for several weeks again failed to get consideration, as the new city ordinance governing the sale of soft drinks was not in effect Monday. March 7th was the date when the new ordinance became effective. These applications will be considered at a trustees' meeting to be held next Monday evening.

S. Nieri was granted a permit to build a garage in back of his new building on Grand avenue.

Mauce Koop has been before refused a permit to operate a poolroom, but Mr. Koop persisted and Monday evening his persistence won. His application was granted, the place being set forth as 228 Grand avenue.

Dr. J. C. McGovern, city health officer, brought up the unsightly and unsanitary condition obtaining because of stagnant water standing around Leipsic station. As this is outside of the city limits, Dr. McGovern was advised to take the matter up with Dr. F. H. Smith of San Bruno, county health officer, also with the supervisors. The fact that the lot at the corner of Magnolia and Railroad avenues was also in an unsanitary condition was brought up, and the health officer stated he would advise its owners to fill it in.

Reports were received from the fire chief, late city recorder, present city recorder, chief of police, city treasurer and city clerk.

A considerable number of bills against the city treasury were audited by the finance committee and ordered paid as approved.

SAN BRUNO RECORDER MAKES ITS APPEARANCE

A second newspaper in San Bruno, the San Bruno Recorder, made its first appearance last Saturday. Its editorial "masthead" carries the information that C. Wiedemann is publisher and Thomas Wiedemann editor and manager. In another column is set forth the fact that the publisher recently celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday and the fifteenth anniversary of his residence in San Bruno.

The San Bruno Recorder appears as a four-page, six-column paper and is a very creditable sheet. The Enterprise understands that Thomas Wiedemann, the editor, is a newspaperman of many years' experience, and the first issue of the Recorder would bear out this report.

A. J. FERGUSON TAKES BRIDE AT CAPE BRETON

On January 29th, Alexander J. Ferguson of this city was married to Katherine H. MacDonald of Cape Breton, B. C. The Rev. Alfred Verran performed the ceremony, Miss Alice Luty of this city acting as bridesmaid while Kirk Ridderbasck of Oakland was best man. Immediately after the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at "The States," following which the happy couple left on a honeymoon trip through the southern states. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson will make their home in this city, Mr. Ferguson having a lucrative position with the Pacific Coast Steel Company.

WOULDN'T OBEY INSPECTOR AND PAYS $25 AS RESULT

Victor Lonati was doing some plumbing in town Plumbing Inspector C. F. Schurk warned him several times he was not complying with the terms of the city plumbing ordinance and had best change his methods. Lonati persisted in doing as he chose. Monday he was brought before Judge J. G. Walker and fined $25. Lonati said he didn't have the money. It was suggested then that he might be given into the charge of the city marshal, whereupon the $25 was promptly forthcoming.

Pretty is as pretty paints.

FINDS LOOTED SAFE ON SAN PEDRO ROAD

Constable S. A. Landini of Daly City and Colma reported to the San Francisco police Wednesday that he had found the safe of the Grandma Cookie Company of San Francisco on the Pedro Valley road near Colma, and that the safe had been forced open and looted.

Burglars broke into the Grandma Cookie Company garage at 164 Oak street, San Francisco, some time Tuesday night, stole the garage safe containing $350, loaded the safe on a truck belonging to the garage and made off with both.

Who remembers when a round-trip excursion ticket from almost anywhere to Niagara Falls cost $5?

P. R. THOMPSON OUT OF CIVIC LEAGUE

Well-Known Member So. S. F. Chamber of Comm. Resigns Office in S. F.

Much interest is felt here over the reported resignation of P. R. Thompson from the position of treasurer of the Civic League of Improvement Clubs and Associations of San Francisco. Thompson is very well known here, being a prominent member of the local Chamber of Commerce and was for several years one of this city's most enthusiastic boosters.

Thompson's resignation followed that of George Skaller, president of the Civic League. Skaller's withdrawal was occasioned by a storm of adverse criticism which broke when it became known that he accepted $2000 from the Pacific Gas and Electric Company for fighting the water and power act during the last political campaign. Although no reason was given for Thompson's withdrawal from the Civic League, it is supposed to have been for the same cause, as he and Skaller were close friends.

Thompson was formerly president of the Civic League and has been closely identified with it for many years. He was at one time president of the South San Francisco Manufacturers' Association.

SIGNS OF THE ZODIAC POINT TO GREAT SHOW

Plans for the big minstrel show to be staged in this city April 6th and 7th are going forward in a way that gives assurance of this being the biggest affair of its kind yet held in this city. The performance will be under the auspices of the Industrial Club, and those who know are declaring that it will be twice as big and twice as good and contain twice as many laughs as the one held a year ago. Scotty Butterworth of San Francisco, one of the best-known minstrel performers and entertainers in the bay region, will have charge of the performance, and this in itself gives assurance of the quality of the show. There will be two performances, the dates falling on Friday and Saturday evenings. The show Saturday night will be followed by a dance.

Tickets for the two evenings have been placed on sale at Scampini's, the Bank of South San Francisco, Peninsula Drug Store, and at the offices of the land company, F. A. Cunningham and B. H. Truax.

ERNIE SCHORR MAKING GOOD IN BASEBALL

Ernie Schorr of this city is now training with the Seattle baseball team at San Jose. Sport writers are proclaiming him a splendid player. He broke into professional ball in 1917.

Mr. and Mrs. John Warbel, formerly of South San Francisco, now of Berkeley, were visitors here Sunday.

PAGEANT OF PROGRESS PLANS GOING WELL

Great Fair Promises Much Publicity;
San Francisco and Los Angeles Firms Reserve Space.

Plans are now well under way for the great Peninsula Pageant of Progress, to be held at San Carlos from May 26th to June 3d. An enthusiastic meeting of committees in charge of the preparations was held in Redwood City Tuesday evening and all reported things progressing well.

R. H. K. Smith, secretary of the organization which has matters in hand, reported that much interest in the big fair is being shown in San Francisco and that firms in that city had already begun making reservations for booths in the huge tent that will be used. Requests for space have also been received from Los Angeles and other cities in southern California. Indications are that the fair will "go over big" and that it will prove to be the greatest agency for the development and improvement of all the peninsula and the counties of San Francisco, San Mateo and Santa Clara that has yet been thought of. The proceeds of the fair will be used in exploiting peninsula resources.

The appointment of directors for the pageant, who will also act as members of the reception committee, was announced at the Tuesday night meeting. The personnel includes L. P. Behrens and Mayor George W. McNulty of Redwood City, Fred A. Drake of San Carlos, Judge E. D. Lakin and Mayor A. M. Cathcart of Palo Alto, Supervisor John MacBain of Menlo Park, Dr. C. V. Thompson of Pescadero, Mayor Thomas Brady of San Mateo, Mayor W. H. Pearson of Burlingame, F. A. Cunningham and Dr. F. S. Dolley of South San Francisco, Mayor M. H. Tichenor of Mayfield, R. R. Waterbury of Rummely and E. W. Clapp of the Southern Pacific Company. The wives of the directors will act as members of the women's reception committee.

A ground committee was appointed, with Asa Hull of San Carlos as chairman and Dave E. Walter and J. W. Munday of Redwood City as the other members.

Professor E. A. Cottrell of Stanford University was named as chairman of the committee on education, with the superintendents of the three counties to serve with him.

It was voted Tuesday night to extend the scope of the fair so far as to include San Jose and all town adjacent on the south and as far west as the coast.

A big booster luncheon in the interest of the fair was held Wednesday noon at Palo Alto and was attended by several hundred persons.

At a luncheon held in this city today (Thursday) at the Industrial Club to consider the proposition of South San Francisco taking part in the fair the directors of the Chamber of Commerce went on record as endorsing the proposition, and E. C. Peck and Secretary S. McCartney of the Chamber of Commerce were appointed as representatives from this city on the executive committee of the fair association. It was also decided to ask the local factories to have floats in the Pageant of Progress which will be held during the big exposition.

K. TATEYA LEARNS POINTS ON DRIVING PROPERLY

K. Tateya, a Japanese of San Francisco, was gathered in by City Marshal C. C. Conrad for driving past another machine at an intersection and also for exceeding the speed limit. He appeared before Judge J. G. Walker Wednesday morning and was assessed $10 on each of the two counts. Tateya paid and walked out a sadder if wiser man.

WESTERN MEAT BALL TEAM TO PLAY AMERICAN CAN SUNDAY

The Mayrose Butters expect a large crowd of friends and supporters to help them win. Game will be called at 1:30 p. m.

$10 PRIZE FOR MOST SUBS SECURED

CANDIDATE TURNING IN MOST MONEY THIS WEEK AND NEXT
WILL BE AWARDED SPECIAL PRIZE OF $10 IN GOLD.

In order to show our appreciation of the interest which the members of the Travel Club are showing in their work, we are offering a special prize of ten dollars in gold to the club member who turns in the most money for subscriptions during this week and next. This offer will include all subscriptions turned in between Monday morning, March 5th, and Saturday night, March 17th.

This will not include any subscriptions that have already been turned in before that time, so that a person who has done very little heretofore may now start work and win this prize, if he work hard enough.

Just fourteen working days remain of the contest, so all club members who expect to win one of the large prizes should not waste one moment or leave one subscription that they might have had.

The Judges
The judges of this campaign will be prominent disinterested citizens, and their names will be published next week. So if there is any reason why you do not wish the ones chosen to act as judges you should make known your reason at once and some one else will be selected.

No More Coupons
This is the last time the 100 point coupons will be published, although the ones which are now out may be collected until March 20th, when no more coupons will be accepted.

The Standing
Today Mrs. William Ely has again taken first place in the list of club members. Mrs. Velt is second, Mrs. Slevers third and Sylvia Haubrich fourth. Miss Boyle has fifth place, Neal Sullivan sixth and Miss Raudebaugh seventh.

Just Workers
This is the last time that any one but the names of workers will be published. All whose names have been sent in will have until the 14th in which to start work, but if they have not done so by that time their names will be dropped from the list. This is done in order to release a great number of subscriptions that friends of non-workers are holding for them. So start of work at once if you wish your name to appear in the list of club members next week.

Extended Subscriptions
Subscribers, if you have already paid one year and now desire to add another year or more in order to help a friend win a prize, you may do so and the club member will be given the extra points that would have been issued had it all been paid at once. A two-year subscription will give a club member 10,000 points if new or 5000 points if renewal. A three-year subscription will give 20,000 points new or 10,000 points if renewal. A four-year subscription will give 30,000 points new or 15,000 points if renewal. No one may pay more than four years in advance.

No More Prize Ballots or Double Votes
After this week there will be no extra points excepting the ones which have been allowed since the campaign began. But until Saturday night of this week all new subscriptions will receive double the usual amount of points.

The Dodge Car
The Dodge Touring Car, which is the first prize in the Travel Club, is a beautiful, powerful, economical and serviceable auto, a car you will be proud to drive alongside the best of them and enjoy the comparison. Often persons financially able of owning the most expensive motor cars choose Dodge Bros.' machines because of the great value they get for their money. No car made gives more. This fine prize was bought of H. R. Vlette of this city and can be seen at the Reliance Garage.

How to figure your Electric Bill

Look up a previous month's bill for Electricity. Subtract from the top, or latest meter reading, the second figure or preceding meter reading. The difference is the amount of Electricity that was used in the period between the two readings and is the amount for which you were charged on that bill.

If you will divide the total amount charged in dollars and cents on your bill by the number of Kilowatt Hours (K. W. H.) the bill shows you have used, you will find the rate, or the cost of one Kilowatt Hour (K. W. H.), which is the unit of Electrical measurement.

Ask at any P. G. and E. office for Free Booklet, "How to Read Your Electric Meter." By following its simple directions you will be able to check up your use of Electricity.

OBEY THE LAW

Monday a young man who had several times ignored the orders of the city plumbing inspector was haled into the city recorder's court and fined $25. This young man could easily have obeyed the inspector, but evidently thought himself above the law. It cost him $25 to learn otherwise.

Monday afternoon this person walked into The Enterprise office and with an air of cock-sureness stated that "a fellow" had been fined in the city court for not following the plumbing inspector's orders. "When your reporter gets the news in the court just have him forget all about that item," this young bird told the editor, with his best air of assurance. Apparently it had not penetrated his skull that The Enterprise might do anything else than as he ordered. He was promptly told that in our opinion he had got only about half of what was coming to him in court and that if he would look in The Enterprise this week he would see an account of his being in court and of the sentence imposed.

There are many persons who have an idea they can violate the law and get away without punishment. The quicker such people discover their mistake the better. And after they have been brought into court and received their dues or part of them, they make another sad mistake by going to a newspaper office and asking that the paper "forget all about it."

The moral is, obey the law and keep out of trouble; then you'll have nothing you are ashamed to have your neighbors read in the newspaper.

WHO'LL BE A CANDIDATE?

Friday, March 30th, there will be an election held in this city for the purpose of choosing a member of the school board. C. C. Conrad is the school trustee whose term is about to expire. So far as this paper knows, Mr. Conrad has made no public statement of whether he will be a candidate again or not.

With Mr. Conrad personally The Enterprise has no quarrel, but it is the opinion of this paper that a change on the board is needed. Better work for the schools, we believe, will result if new blood is brought into the board.

The position of school trustee is a thankless one. The only reward is the consciousness of service performed for the community. But it is a very necessary service and somebody must be public-spirited enough to give time, attention and energy to it. There are a number of persons in this community well qualified for the position. Who will be a candidate?

taining to the department. Those present for this enjoyable affair were as follows: William Ely, Thomas Schmidt, Thomas Galli, Otto Bissett, Tony Phelps, Sam Kiessling, James McDonald, C. Waddell, Ernest Galli, Julio Bianchi, Louis Verna, W. Emerick, D. Raudebaugh and A. Johnson.

ASSEMBLYMAN EKSWARD GETS OVATION AT CAPITOL

Assemblyman Frank L. Eksward of San Mateo county, who has been ill in the Capital City for some time, was given an ovation in the assembly Monday when he answered the roll-call after he had been wheeled into the chamber in an invalid's chair. A high tribute was paid to the sick member by Speaker Frank F. Merri-

Ekward, who is a member of the assembly finance committee, which is to take up the budget, announced that he would attend the hearings, if his physician permitted, and he added:

"Mr. Speaker, I will be ever ready at the call of the body, and if my vote is necessary you can send a couple of sergeants-at-arms for me and they can bring me in on a stretcher, if necessary."

GETS THIRTY DAYS FOR PETTY LARCENY

Louis Miller, a workman at the Metal and Thermit plant, was up in the city recorder's court last Friday on a petty larceny charge preferred by a fellow-workman, Joe Castro. Miller was accused of stealing a suit of clothes and, the evidence bearing out the charge, he was sentenced to thirty days in jail.

OPPORTUNITY IS NOW KNOCKING AT OUR DOOR

(By Summerfield McCartney, Secretary Chamber of Commerce.)

Not since the days of gold has California been the center of the world's interest and attention as today. With the various national advertising campaign setting forth the attractions and opportunities of California, countless thousands are being impressed with the fact that this is the time to make the momentous decision.

From all sections of the state civic and commercial organizations report a greatly increased volume of inquiry from prospective settlers, investors and industries. The automobile associations and the railroads are preparing to handle the greatest volume of traffic in the history of the state. Every indication points to the fact that California is on the eve of the greatest era of development that the Golden State has yet realized.

How to capitalize this broad interest is the live issue and problem of the various communities of the state. Advertising and publicity can bring the customer to the door, but it takes organization and salesmanship to actually sell the commodity.

Here as elsewhere this community will find that one of the most effective mediums for capitalizing this increased opportunity for expansion and development will be through a strongly organized Chamber of Commerce. Out of the great assortment of experiments conducted by American communities over a period of years, the fundamental principle embraced in the Chamber of Commerce today stands recognized as the most efficient instrument for civic accomplishment.

But the elements of a successful Chamber of Commerce embrace more than an organization with its various officers. It includes and, in fact, depends upon the active participation of a representative membership. All groups and individuals profit directly or indirectly from the work of the organization. The degree of profit, both to the individual and the community at large, is in proportion to the time given by the citizens to the civic work of the organization. There should be no conflict of interests in a community if it is to grow and prosper. Now, today, is the time to bury the hatchet, and, once buried, let it remain buried.

Now is the time to support our Chamber of Commerce, both with memberships and services, so that this community may fully realize the opportunities for progress that are daily passing this way.

rees, shrubs and flowers of Hawaii

Probably no other phase of Hawaii is so much a surprise and a delight to the stranger as the tropical fruits, flowers, trees, hedges and shrubs, which are green the year around and for many months flaming with varicolored blossoms or leaves. Fruits are described elsewhere, but the mango, papaya, avocado or alligator pear, guava and bread-fruit trees with their fruits contribute materially to the scenery. On the slopes of the crater of Haleakala grows the exquisite silver sword, said to be found outside Hawaii only in the high Himalayas. In Honolulu are long hedges of that peculiar blossom, the night-blooming cereus, which flowers several times each summer on long stalks not unlike cactus. Several thousand varieties of the hibiscus, in bright color combinations of bell-shaped blossoms, supply a hint of continuous festivity. Pink, red and white oleander bushes growing to the proportions of trees cast their fragrance in profusion, and croton hedges which bear no blossom offer leaves with a riot of colors beyond comparison with flowers. The bougainvillea, spreading its red and purple vines over entire cottages, makes the most spectacular showing, but close rivals are the flame-blossomed poincianas, the pale-blue jack-mandas, the canary-yellow golden shower and the apple-blossom-like pink shower-trees which are along the streets by hundreds in Honolulu. The poinsettia with its flaming red leaves forms a striking picture, and the lantana bush with its mountain fragrance, while it is regarded as a pest in Hawaii, is pleasing to the visitor. There are eucalyptus and evergreen trees in Hawaii, and the lehua and lauhala are used extensively for weaving.

MR. AND MRS. DUFFY ENTERTAIN FRIENDS

Mr. and Mrs. E. Duffy gave a party at their home Saturday evening. The rooms were decorated in blue and gold and the evening was spent in dancing and playing cards. Supper was served at midnight. Maderas, Misses Alice Bonalanza, Teresa Franzetti, Angelina Eserini and Sylvia Haubrich, Messrs. Jerome Murray, Stephen Fischer, Joe Welte and A. Franzetti.

MESSRS. HOLBROOK AND SPANGLER IN ACCIDENT

The broken arm was set at the South San Francisco Hospital, when Mr. Holbrook was able to go to his home.

"IGNORANCE NO LONGER BLISS"

It is pretty accurately estimated that over two-thirds of the people who need glasses don't know it.

Some of them find it out in time to avoid serious eye trouble; others, barely in time to escape blindness; and others, too late for glasses to help any.

There is, at this day and time, no more excuse for eye ignorance than for ignorance of any other organs of the body. Eye knowledge is so easily obtainable. H. C. KOOP, Optometrist, Peninsula Drug Co.—Advt.

Richard Lloyd Jones Says Speeding May Be Stopped

The "Safety First" movement has done much to lessen danger everywhere except on our streets and country roads. There the auto toll still climbs. The Safety First movement has always been to make it safe for the auto rather than the pedestrian. We say "Don't jay-walk," but never "Don't jay-drive."

There are 10,600,000 automobiles in the United States. There are hundreds of legislators who are going to introduce in the forty-three legislatures now in session or about to convene laws that will move the Safety First movement out onto the street.

In their own interest the auto manufacturers, dealers and clubs should line up with the legislative advocates of Safety First,—yet in too many instances they stupidly stand the ground to resist any safety-first legislation.

For instance, the Chicago Motor Club puts out combative propaganda which, among other fool declarations, says, "There were 10,097 deaths in 1920 from influenza, and only 10,168 from auto vehicles." Can you beat that? Mere trifle.

Railroads won't allow a man in the locomotive cab who even drinks, let alone gets drunk. The drunkard drives the auto. Honest lawyers assert that it is difficult to convict the driver who crushes or kills because "He didn't mean to,"—you can't establish the "intent to kill."

Among the many remedies proposed are three that are particularly practical and behind which there are many supporters.

The street car doesn't carry a bumper; it carries a basket for you or me to fall in if the motorman hits us without criminal intent. Unless jay-driving is promptly stopped—unless every jay-driver is promptly jerked out of his seat and not allowed to return to the wheel, we are all going to be compelled to take our bumps off and put on baskets.

The second practical remedy provides for safety in our cities. Did you ever notice how all autos slow down before a two-inch plank that is laid across the road to protect a hose or pipe? They slow down to spare the springs on the auto. But they don't all slow down to spare the spinal column of the pedestrian. Well,—it is proposed to ridge every walk across street intersections with stones set two inches above the pavement. Then we will have some careful driving.

And lastly it is proposed to make every speedometer town-clock size, compel every car to be equipped with one, and put it on the back. There will be no room for it on the dash board. It will be the diameter of your tire. Then everybody will be able to read your speed.

And all this is no laughing matter. These legislators from Oregon to Florida, from Maine to California are in dead earnest. A people tired of jelly-boned judges, tired of amateur engineers, tired of drunken drivers, and the hurry-up fellows on the road, are going after safety first on the road.

The automobile is one of civilization's best blessings, but we do not welcome it to see which can win the death-toll race,—it or influenza.

poem by UNCLE JOHN

The richest trait of any soul, in dividends at trifling cost, is when the man that wins control is tender toward the man that lost. . . . I hate the beast that rends again the valiant, though the vanquished form.—The man who joys in giving pain,—who keeps the fires of malice warm.

FOR THE UNDER DOG . . . In this old world of give and take, we know the fittest may survive,—we may surpass, but should not break, the heart that fain would stay alive. . . . We've passed the age of tooth and claw, when Cave-man tactics slew the meek,—we now obey the higher law, by which the strong upholds the weak. . . .

The Egot's transient badge of power may only last him for a day, and Justice holds the coming hour, when he, like chaff, shall blow away. The man who conquers in the game may honors reap, and love enjoy,—but MEN abhor the act of shame, when hellish instinct would destroy! Well may the powerful hand beware, if hatred lures to heinous crime.—For he who sits in kingly chair may howl for mercy in this time. . . . "That which men sow, they also reap" is true in State, in Heart, in Mind; Let us be mindful what we keep, in words that wound or ties that bind.

HOMEY PHILOSOPHY for 1923

Business is bad. Isn't that good. Father is busted. Great news. Willie has the measles. Smile, mother, smile. Try to get him well, of course, but smile. When clouds are dark, when the bank roll's gone, when wolfish landlords press for rent and there's not a cent to meet it, when all the world seems sad and weary smile as you never smiled before, for there's joy right in your lap. Be not the hypocrite. Christ was crucified. Let us not pose as Christians if we wretch at carryin' the cross and dodge the burden every time it seems to come our way. If we all take a hand at the burden the load will be very light, and the road leads to human love and happiness.

NEW SOFT DRINK ORDINANCE IS NOW IN EFFECT

Because of the many inquiries it is receiving as to when the new city ordinance governing the sale in this city of soft drinks was effective, The Enterprise will inform its readers that the new ordinance went into effect March 7th, or thirty days after its passage. The many applications now on file at the city hall for permits to sell soft drinks will be considered by the city trustees at a meeting next Monday evening.

There has been much activity around soft drink saloons the last month as the owners put in clear glass fronts, tore out partitions to back rooms, etc., to comply with the provisions of the ordinance. Most of these places, which have now been closed for over a month pending the going into effect of the new ordinance, are preparing to reopen as soon as their applications for permits to operate are granted.

COUNTY OFFICERS GO TO SACRAMENTO MEETING

The annual state convention of the County Clerks' Association, the Supervisors' Association and the Surveyors' Association is being held this week in Sacramento, where various subjects of interest to the different members are being discussed.

County Clerk Elizabeth M. Nash, secretary of the State Association of County Clerks, is attending the convention. All of the members of the board of supervisors have gone to Sacramento for the three-day meet, and County Surveyor George A. Kneese is attending the convention of the surveyors.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

(Contributed.)

Commencing next Sunday in St. Paul's M. E. Church on Maple avenue near the city hall, special evangelistic services will be held lasting two weeks and closing on Easter Day. There will be earnest preaching, stirring singing and the presentation of uplifting and optimistic truth. We wish people to find joy in Christian service and expression. Every one will find welcome at these services. Let every Christian man, woman and child, of no matter what denomination or creed, have part in these meetings. Your presence will encourage; your voice in song or testimony will inspire, and your prayers will lift yourselves and others toward the heavenly city. Christians of South City, let us give two weeks to the noble work of boosting the cause of God. We want a big chorus choir and ask for volunteers. Say it and sing it: "Surely the Master can depend on me." Everybody come. Let us give two weeks to the cause of God. Let us make this a community affair, with best fidelity and most earnest co-operation.

Farm Bureau Centers Fire on Foreign Outlet

The American Farm Bureau Federation is centering its fire at Washington in the effort to revive a foreign outlet for farm commodities. It has submitted a convincing report to Farm Bloc members. Martin J. Gillen, of New York, prepared the report which was checked by H. W. Moorehouse, of the Dept. of Research. The Farm Bureau recommends a revival of confidence in European securities.

EXAMINATIONS FOR CADET APPOINTMENTS IN APRIL

Congressman Arthur M. Free of this district announces that there will be held a competitive examination for appointment of cadets and cadet engineers for the United States Coast Guard, commencing April 16, 1923. This is an exceptional opportunity for young men of the right caliber to complete their education at government expense and to become commissioned officers in the United States coast guard, one of the military services of the United States, in which is offered service afloat and ashore. Cadets are trained to become line officers, and the age limits for appointment are 18 to 24 years. Cadet engineers are trained to become engineer officers, and the age limits for appointment are 20 to 25 years. Cadets and cadet engineers are trained and educated at the Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., and each summer are taken on an extended practice cruise. Cadets and cadet engineers receive the same pay and allowances as midshipmen in the navy ($780 per annum and one ration per day).

Upon graduation, after three years at the academy, a cadet becomes a commissioned officer in the grade of ensign in the United States Coast Guard. A cadet engineer, upon graduation, after one year at the academy, is commissioned as ensign (engineering). Commissioned officers of the coast guard rank with officers in the army, navy and marine corps, and receive corresponding pay and allowances, grade for grade.

The mental examination for cadets, which will follow the physical, will consume three days. Applicants for cadetship who present satisfactory certificates that they have completed the equivalent of a four-year high school course and received fourteen credits in subjects prescribed by headquarters, will be required to take a written examination in the following subjects only: Mathematics (algebra and geometry), history and English. Those who do not present certificates showing that they have had the equivalent of fourteen credits, as prescribed, will be required to take an examination in the following subjects: Mathematics (algebra and geometry), history, English, physics, or chemistry or general science, Latin or German or French or Spanish, and general information. A high school graduate should be able to pass the examination for cadet.

POSTAL SERVICE USED SIX CENTURIES AGO

Marco Polo, the Venetian traveler, about 1280, reported that letters were carried by riders on horses throughout the Chinese empire. He estimated there were then 10,000 postoffices and 200,000 horses.

The postoffices were stationed about twenty-five miles apart, and served the purposes of inns for travelers as well as providing relays for mails. This condition existed until the twelfth or thirteenth centuries.

The postal system of Peru, when the Spanish first knew it, was well established on all the great routes that led to the capital.

All along these routes small buildings were erected, at a distance of less than five miles apart, in each of which a number of runners or "chasquis," as they were called, were stationed to carry forward the dispatches of the government.

The dispatches were long strings of "quipus," peculiarly knotted according to a code resembling the Morse alphabet for telegraphy. These "quipus" were wound around the waist of the runner, who was also uniformed to show his official errand.

Frequent relays made great speed possible, and the usual rate was 150 miles a day.—Detroit News.

Sportsmanship.

Old Bill Sanderson was an inveterate and enthusiastic New Jersey hunter, in this respect quite unlike his otherwise congenial pal, Jake.

"Huh!" Jake would growl. "Grown men shootin' little birds with big guns!"

This always threw Bill into a fine rage.

"Come out an' see what you can do with a big gun against one o' them little birds," was his usual retort. "When one o' them poor little birds sees you coming, he'll laugh himself so sick you won't have to shoot him. That's the only way you'll ever bring home a bird."

This challenge was so often repeated that Jake finally accepted it. Before starting, Bill undertook to expound the hunter's code as he saw it, putting great stress upon the theorem that, if the sportsman played according to the rules, the advantage was sure to be on the side of the bird.

Bill was leading the way toward a likely spot, giving due consideration to the wind and its direction, when Jake, totally oblivious of these elements in the problem, sighted a big pheasant scuttling along through a hedge. Instantly he brought his gun into position, and was taking aim, when the horrified Bill stepped forward and knocked the barrel of the weapon upward.

"Jake," he cried, "surely you wasn't goin' to shoot that bird while he was runnin' on the ground, was you?"

Jake, the picture of disgust, watched the pheasant disappear in a clump of brush.

"No, you blamed old fool," he finally managed to ejaculate; "I was going to wait for him to stop."—Everybody's Magazine.

Friend Wife Counters.

He was fond of playing silly jokes on his wife, and this time he thought he had a winner. "My dear," he said, as they sat at dinner, "I heard such a sad story of a young girl today. They thought she was going blind and so a surgeon operated on her and found—"

"Yes," gasped the wife breathlessly.

"That she had a young man in her eye," ended the husband with a chuckle.

For a moment there was silence. Then the woman remarked, slowly: "Well, it would depend on what sort of a man he was. Some of them she could see through easily enough."—Good Housekeeping.

Too Efficient.

"I understand you have an efficiency expert over at the place where you work."

"Have' is wrong, 'had' is the word." "What was the matter? Was he incompetent?"

"No, he was too darned competent. He discovered that the boss was wasting half our time telling us things that we knew better than he did."—Boston Transcript.

Foretold.

"I suppose the young man thought he would live with his wife's parents?"

"That's what he thought, but her father was too smart for him."

"What did he do?"

"Before they got back from the honeymoon he sold the old home place and moved to a hotel."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

WANT PICTURES OF BEAUTIES

But Natives of Out-of-the-Way Places Have Their Own Idea of What Is Beautiful.

Meyer Krupp of Seattle, veteran trader of furs, who for 25 years has penetrated the out-of-the-way places in the Orient, says that even in islands that are uncharted and virtually unknown the beauty of American women is known. For, when trading sable skins, the natives demand in return pictures of pretty women. Mr. Krupp takes on each trip hundreds of photographs of women. He selects the pictures at random.

One can never tell what the natives' demands will be for women's photographs, says Mr. Krupp, according to the Seattle Times. Blondes as a rule are much desired. One well-known motion-picture star, whose salary is reputed to be equal to that of the President, members of his cabinet and the director of the mint combined, would no doubt be shocked if she knew the lack of appreciation evidenced among the natives of her much-heralded beauty. The trader couldn't barter away one dozen of her photographs for the skin of an ordinary squirrel trapped out of season, while on the other hand an obscure member of a film company's extra crowd, a woman who has never once figured in a "fade-out," is all the rage among fur hunters. The traders and hunters talk over her picture in terms of sable skins.

ELECTRICITY IN HUMAN BODY

Alleged That Some People Can Produce Sparks That Will Light the Gas.

Almost everyone is familiar with what is known as static electricity. One rubs the cat's fur the wrong way, and gets a little shock. The cat, however, must be a dry cat. Or one walks across a carpeted floor on a dry winter's day and then touches a radiator or some other metal object; whereupon there is a perceptible discharge from the body. It is said that some folks can light the gas in that way.

Anyhow, while sparks produced in this manner are ordinarily harmless, they are under some circumstances a source of serious danger. They cause a great many accidents in gasoline distilleries, explosive factories, flour mills, dry-cleaning establishments, cotton-gins and threshing machines.

The National Association of Dyers and Cleaners of the United States is now undertaking an active campaign to eliminate fires from this source. Inasmuch as appreciable charges of static electricity can be produced only when the surrounding air is very dry, the most effective prevention is to dampen the atmosphere of factory rooms by injecting steam.

Wealth in Maine Fur Trade.

As for the fur trade in Maine, careful estimates place a money value of a million on this business. To be sure, this is through the figures reported by the state game department. But the official totals do not give the catch on thousands of farms where the boys do their own shooting and trapping; nor do they include many thousand dollars' worth of furs shipped directly out of the state without check on them, says the Lewiston Journal. Many a farm is worth far more for the furs it bears than for the garden stuff it raises. The state is rich in skunks, for instance, which is one of the most valuable "crops" we have. Muskrats, though not so plentiful, when dyed form the fashionable "Hudson seal." Minks and raccoons and weasels and foxes, with other game, constitute the bulk of this wealth.

Explaining the "Planeteam" Theory

The visiting star left behind a sun surrounded by a vast revolving cloud of matter that had been torn out of it.

In this cloud were millions of small lumps of matter—called "planetesimals," or baby planets. One of them, a little larger than the others, became the nucleus of our earth. It picked up the smaller lumps that happened to be revolving about the sun in the same general path. Think of a molasses-coated baseball flying through an endless swarm of gnats.

In the course of time—millions or millions of years—the earth picked up nearly all the baby planets within its reach.—Popular Science Monthly.

Left Her Wondering.

I was cleaning house, and was wearing an old dress. I went out the back door to shake the last rug and noticed a nicely dressed gentleman coming up the drive. As it is quite a distance from the road to our house, I decided I could tidy myself up a little before he arrived. So I changed my dress, brushed my hair and waited for the doorbell to ring. But I waited in vain. When I looked out of the window he had entirely disappeared away!—Exchange.

Heat From Oil and Coal.

It is generally recognized that under normal conditions 125 gallons of oil will produce about the same amount of utilizable heat as a ton of coal. With gas oil at the present price of eight cents a gallon, the relative expenditures would be $12 for oil and $14 for coal.

There You Have It.

"Yes," said the boy; "an artist draws something that is, and an architect draws something that isn't."

THE BIRTH OF THE PEAK

IN THE golden ages of memory and legend, when all the world was new and fair, and all the sky was blue as babies' eyes and just as clear, the paradise of earth, wherein all was happiness and contentment, was situated upon the smiling slopes that rose to meet the sunset sky. In those days there was no mountain range, no land of eternal snows piercing to the heavens, that made a barrier 'twixt east and west. Instead, all was golden with the sunshine of happiness and purple with the afterglow of peace.

Here lived the chosen people, and over them was the constantly watching eye of the Manitou, creator of man and beast, ruler of earth and heaven. And the world was good to look upon. The chosen people, roaming the hills, felt not the heat of summer or the cold of winter, for the seasons were as one. The trees brought forth their fruit without cultivation, and the vines their berries, and from the ground sprang up the luscious maize that the chosen ones might not wax hungry and lean. The streams teemed with fish, and the air with wild fowl, and the woods and fields with beasts that gave themselves up gladly to be a meal for man. In those days there was no war, and no sorrow, and no discontent, but man was willing to follow the rules laid down by the all-wise Manitou, who governed wisely and well.

But by and by bad spirits came—weak spirits from the lowlands by the sea—not strong enough to fight the chosen ones in open battle, but crafty in deceit and discontent. And long they journeyed through the land, spreading their lawless tales and turning each against the other, until no man was safe and lawlessness held undisturbed sway.

Then the chosen race lost faith; they cursed the Manitou and wished him evil; they spat upon his image in the woods and defiled his name at every thinking breath. And bad grew worse, and soon their homes were broken and horror ruled upon the land, and the sunshine vanished and the snows came and the world was a world of sorrow.

When the Manitou saw what the evil spirits had wrought, he became exceedingly wroth. He stamped his foot and the rain gods came and swept down upon the earth; and the waters of the deep were released and hid the land; and everywhere was desolation and death. And the chosen race, fleeing in fear from the rising flood, rushed toward the western gate that leads to Heaven, bearing in their hands fragments of soil and rocks and precious stone with which to build elsewhere a better world. But Manitou saw in their actions nothing of good or sympathy or repentance, but only evil and fear, and so he forbade that they should bring their worldly spoil to Heaven.

So the floods caught them and swept them into its grasp, and as they died each evil spirit, lost for evermore, cursed the great and wise Manitou, and they cast their handfuls of dirt and rock toward the Heaven they mocked. And there they formed a mountain, vast in size, towering above the advancing flood and shutting off all view of Heaven's light. As the flood receded it left the peak, a monument of precious stones and gifts, marking the path to Heaven, but in its vastness shutting off all view of Manitou and casting its great shadow over all where once was earthly paradise.

So today it stands on guard against the further ambitions of man and beast. In years that passed the white man came and gave to it the name of Pike's peak in honor of their leader, who first saw its giant head stretching above the clouds. But those of us who know the story of the chosen race, which was our fathers, still see in its great height a guiding mound that points the way to Heaven, yet shuts off our view and bids us bide our turn and wait till we are called to do our penance there before the throne where sits the Manitou.

Note—This legend of Pike's peak, most famous of American mountains, is told by Ute, Comanche and Shoshone alike. It is repeated, too, by the Arapahoes and Cheyennes—tribes of a different family who knew the Pike's peak region and who, in all probability, had the tale from some of the mountain tribes. It is very beautifully told, in part, in poem by Ernest Whitney, who spent years with the Utes of the mountain region.

JOHNSON TO GO INTO TRAINING IN ARKANSAS

Word has been received in this city that Floyd Johnson, South San Francisco boxer, who is now considered the best prospect for a championship contender, was in the hospital last Friday in New York as a result of a slight hemorrhage of the throat, following a recent operation for tonsillitis.

Within a few days Johnson expects to go to Hot Springs, Ark., to begin training for his fight with Jess Willard, which is scheduled for May 12th. This will be the biggest event of Johnson's fistic career so far, and if he is successful, as his local friends have no doubt he will be, it is expected he will be matched with Dempsey at some date not far in the future.

Two Foremost Dempsey Challengers

Johnson is matched for a bout with former champion Jess Willard, the exhibition to be held in New York, May 12th.

Firpo fights Bill Brennan, a tough one whom Johnson has already put away, next Monday.

The wise ones in fistic matters are saying that within the next year either Johnson or Firpo is due for an argument with Jack Dempsey over the championship of the world.

These exclusive features of the R. & G. Elasticside safeguard the natural lines of the figure and insure the utmost ease and company.

The Man Who Signs Must Make Good

A responsible man puts his name to a piece of paper and it becomes a check—the equivalent of money.

He signs his name on the back of another piece of paper and it becomes an endorsed note—good for money.

He writes a letter and it becomes a binding contract.

The adding of the name makes these things solemn and legal.

The man who signs is responsible.

Just so with an advertisement—the moment a man signs his name to it he has made a pledge to the public.

He is bound by his word as much as if he signed a check or a note. He must do what he promised on the terms he promised.

If he does not, he courts business disaster. The man who advertises a lie publicly proclaims himself a liar. Such men are seldom in business but frequently in asylums.

It is safer to buy advertised articles than nondescript ones. It is safer to deal with merchants who advertise than with those who do not.

An advertisement is a signed pledge of good faith to the public.
